LYME DISEASE and how to prevent it

diagram

RUN FROM TICKS, NOT YOUR LIFE!

What is Lyme Disease?
- Lyme Disease is caused by ticks found in hidden areas in the forest
- Tick → Saliva numbs area → Presence of tick not felt → May lead to other blood diseases

How to prevent ticks:
- Global warming has opened more habitats for ticks to live in.
- How to prevent it:
- Throw away less food
- Eat a plant-based diet
- Save energy
- Walk, cycle, or use public transport
- Reduce, reuse, repair and recycle

Symptoms
- Rash
- Fever
- Fatigue
- Aches
- Chills
- Flu-like symptoms

How to prevent Lyme Disease:
- Ticks are attracted to sweat and carbon dioxide but hate the smell of orange, cinnamon, lemon, peppermint, lavender, etc. (ie you can wear a lavender perfume to keep the ticks away.)
- Wear a tick repellent and long sleeves and pants to avoid ticks.

Fun Fact!
Lyme Disease Awareness Month is in May 2023

Callouts:
- If you find a tick, take it out
- Wear light clothes to spot ticks easier
- When leaving a forest, do a tick check
- Keep all skin covered to prevent ticks from attaching to your skin
- Walk on clear paths
